

FROM ATHENS TO ABU DHABI, FROM
BEIJING TO BRUSSELS, FROM SAN ANTONIO TO ORLANDO -- ATP IS ON THE MOVE !

For more than 25 years ATP has provided advocacy, networking opportunities and leadership for what is now a global community. So many of our members come to us through our conferences - they join initially for the opportunity to network, to learn, and to grow their companies and their careers. But they stay when they realize what ATP is doing behind the scenes to support the industry...

--ATP CEO, William G. Harris, Ph.D.

When you support ATP through member dues, you are supporting the continued advocacy and market-growth efforts of the only organization that safeguards the test publishing/assessment services industry as a whole -- without regard to regional borders or the thin veils between practice areas that serve to separate us as an industry.

LETTER FROM THE CEO

ATP IS MORE THAN A CONFERENCE ...

This year alone ATP stood up for the test publishing industry when the U.S. Copyright office changed the process for registration of secure tests and announced it would rewrite the definition of a secure test; when legislators in the state of Louisiana tried to unnecessarily restrict certification, licensure and credentialing designations, and in Nevada where a legislative initiative in its original form would have banned the use of pre-employment personality tests. Internationally, ATP has taken an active role when the ISO 10667 (a cornerstone of personnel best practices for the delivery of assessments) came up for a mandatory five-year review and it appeared as though some essential tenets of the original standard were not being respected. In all of these areas ATP intervened with legal representation, the expertise, and the track record to back up our recommendations. In other areas significant to our industry, ATP has been at the forefront in providing guidance for the new EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and will continue to do so as EU regulations begin to influence privacy laws in the U.S. - which we are already starting to see. ATP continues to foster new geographic partnerships in Asia, Europe, India, the Middle East and Africa - and new interest-area partnerships in the public sector, healthcare and in workforce credentialing.

So often I hear from potential members that they support ATP by sponsoring the conferences. But ATP is much more than a conference. When you support ATP through member dues, you are supporting the continued advocacy and market-growth efforts of the only organization that safeguards the test publishing/assessment services industry as a whole - without regard to regional borders or the thin veils between practice areas that serve to separate us as an industry. It is only through membership support that ATP can continue to thrive in an increasingly complex and technologically-based global environment. ATP continues to be, at its core, a member-driven community of like-minded, forward-thinking, entrepreneurial professionals drawn together for a common goal - to promote and preserve the general welfare of testing and its value to society, in all its forms and uses.
